Applicant's election with traverse of Claims 1-26 and 34-52 in the reply filed on October 13, 2006 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that there is not a serious burden on the Examiner. This is not found persuasive because the inventions are deemed patentably distinct because there is nothing on this record to show them to be obvious variants.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

The information disclosure statement filed May 2, 2005 fails to comply with 37 CFR 1.98(a)(2), which requires a legible copy of each cited foreign patent document; each non-patent literature publication or that portion which caused it to be listed; and all other information or that portion which caused it to be listed. It has been placed in the application file, but the information referred to therein has not been considered.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-26 and 34-52 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Reddy et al (US 6406724) in view of Taylor (US 4584199), Nauth et al (US 6110509), and Toravill et al (GB 713251).

Reddy et al disclose a flavoring system and method of preparing comprising a sulfury-cheddar flavor, a creamy-buttery flavor, and a cheesy flavor as is claimed (see entire patent, especially the claims).

The claims differ as to the addition of a bacteriocin.

Taylor discloses the addition of nisin to cheese products (see entire patent, especially the Abstract).

Nauth et al disclose the use of nisin-producing cultures to stabilize cream cheese (see entire patent, especially the claims)

Toravill et al disclose the use of a starter containing a nisin-producing culture in the manufacture and preservation of cheese (see entire document).

It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art, at the time the invention was made, to use nisin or a nisin producing culture in that of Reddy et al because the use of nisin in the production of cheese is conventional in the art. Applicant is using known components to obtain expected results.

Moran et al (US 6562383) is cited as of interest to the claimed invention.
